

Checking back is something we already know how to do because we do it every day. Here is an example:

Emil, Su and Anna are catching up in their local café.

